Evenings are now packed with summertime activities; outdoor concerts, movies in the park, backyard barbecues; the list goes on. With schedules filling up, it's hard to find the time to prepare a proper dinner—or so it seems. But some of our favorite chefs have reminded us that making a healthy, balanced dinner doesn't require hours of prep work, only 15 minutes from start to finish. From classic pasta dishes to Pad Thai, these dishes are delicious and easy to make. Plus, if these plates are good enough to please the palates of some of the world's most discerning chefs, they're sure to please yours (and your guests'). Bon appetit!

1. "My wife, Danielle, and I love this dish because by the time your pasta is cooked, the sauce is ready and it all comes together really quickly." – Executive Chef Justin Walker, Earth at Hidden Pond
